

sometimes people ask us, "how can I be part of what the refuge is doing?" while we always love any prayers and encouragement we can get, one really tangible way you can help extend our culture of generosity is to donate money that we can use to continue to creatively meet the needs that cross our path through our network of relationships with single moms, dads, and struggling families. we will make sure your money gets to specific people who really need a little extra help. thanks for believing in us. it means more than you know.

the refuge is deeply dedicated to loving people in the midst of hard places on their journey. we are called to be people's mothers, fathers, brothers, sisters for different seasons & our adopted "family" means we are in it for the long haul no matter what. whether we are young or old, educated or uneducated, shy or loud, there's always someone out there who needs us to stick up for them now and then, to be a voice when they have none, to restore a little dignity & offer a little hope for the journey. that's advocacy.
